The fashion industry has undergone enormous structural changes. All modules are interconnected through practical project frameworks to promote the acquisition of transferable skills. Most of the course will focus on institutions and social organizations that are reimagining our common future by rethinking and redesigning how we live. The mind is also an integral part of this grouping of modules: you will be enrolled in personal coaching sessions to support your personal and professional development. To develop these literatures, students will begin by investigating the perils that currently affect any system, such as resource depletion, species extinction, pollution and global warming in the ecosystem; population growth, social inequalities, disease, violence and conflict in human societies; and imperialism, unemployment, consumerism, and waste in the global economy. The Bachelor Fashion Design & Technology is a course of 180 ECTS and 3 years. The Online Degree Course in Fashion Design & Technology is structured on 3 Levels called Studios (years) to reflect our educational strategy focused on the sector: Contextualization The acquisition of cutting-edge design and production techniques must relate to the realities of the fashion industry.
