A Zoo Trip

Name _____

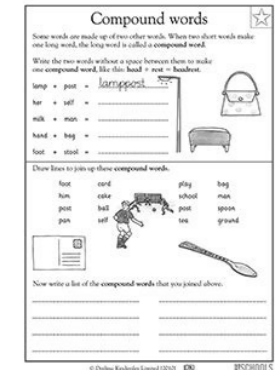

Maddie and John were excited about their trip to the zoo with their Grandpa. As they arrived on a sunny summer day, they talked about what animal they should see first. "I want to see the giraffes," Maddie said. Giraffes were her favorite animal. "Well I really want to go see the reptiles," John stated. Maddie got a little angry. "We always do what you want to do John! I don't want to see the reptiles they scare me." Grandpa smiled, "Children, we will have time to see the giraffes, the reptiles and my favorite, the monkeys!" The children laughed. The trio began walking down the path where on their right they saw a large elephant showering himself with his trunk. "Wow!" John exclaimed. After a few minutes the three kept walking until on their left they came to more animals. Cheetahs! "Their coats are so pretty!" Maddie said. As the day went on, Maddie, John and grandpa walked all over the zoo having a great time seeing all of the animals. On their way out Grandpa asked, "Okay, what was the best part? Was it the giraffes, the reptiles, the monkeys?" The children thought for a moment. Maddie began, "Grandpa the best part wasn't any of the animals. The best part was seeing them with you."
